A couple of tips when planning your wedding:

- Try and take a sustainable approach when planning your wedding. With just a little forward thinking you can make a big difference to the volume of waste from your big day.
- Be sure to research your suppliers, check their reviews!
- Are they local? If your looking to have a sustainable wedding, local is always best!
- Check if your preferred caterers source their produce locally and in doing so support the local farming and growing communities.
- The same goes for florists, many florists have their own cutting gardens these days, this is a great way of cutting costs and avoiding ordering wholesale from abroad and wrapping up the air miles!
